Foreword

A Blowout! That's the problem these two anonymous gentlemen seem to have encountered. Will our classmates experience blow-outs on the road to success? I think not. The preparation of this yearbook proves that the members of the Class of 1968 are prepared for life and will travel smoothly along its highways.

Editor

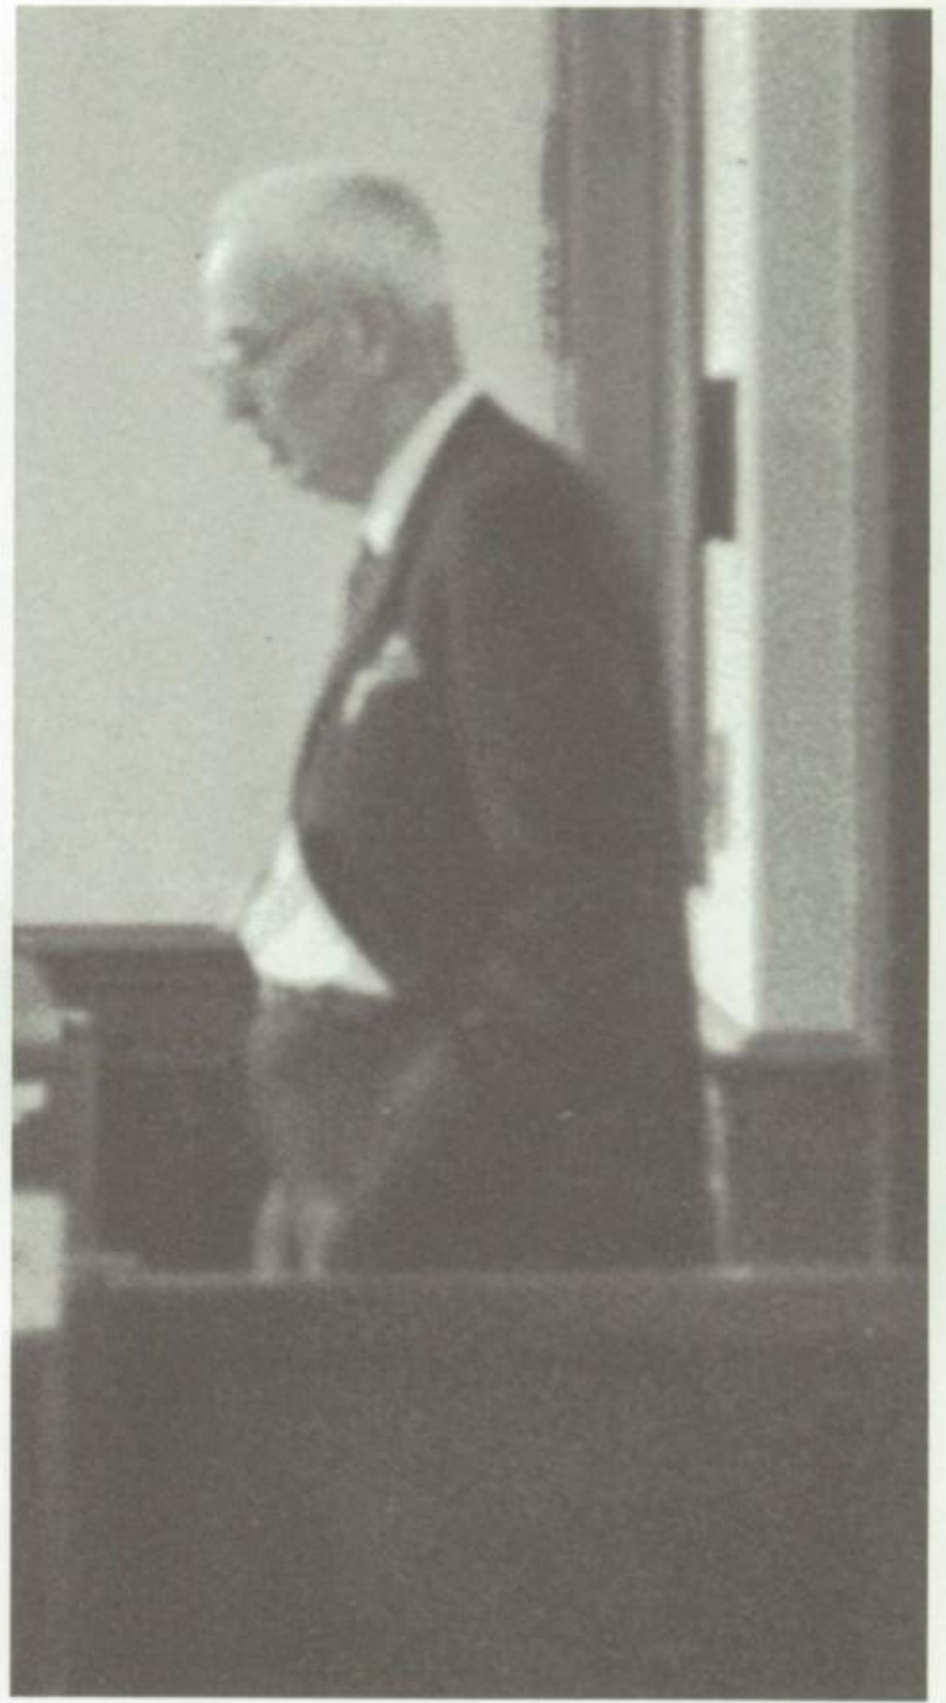

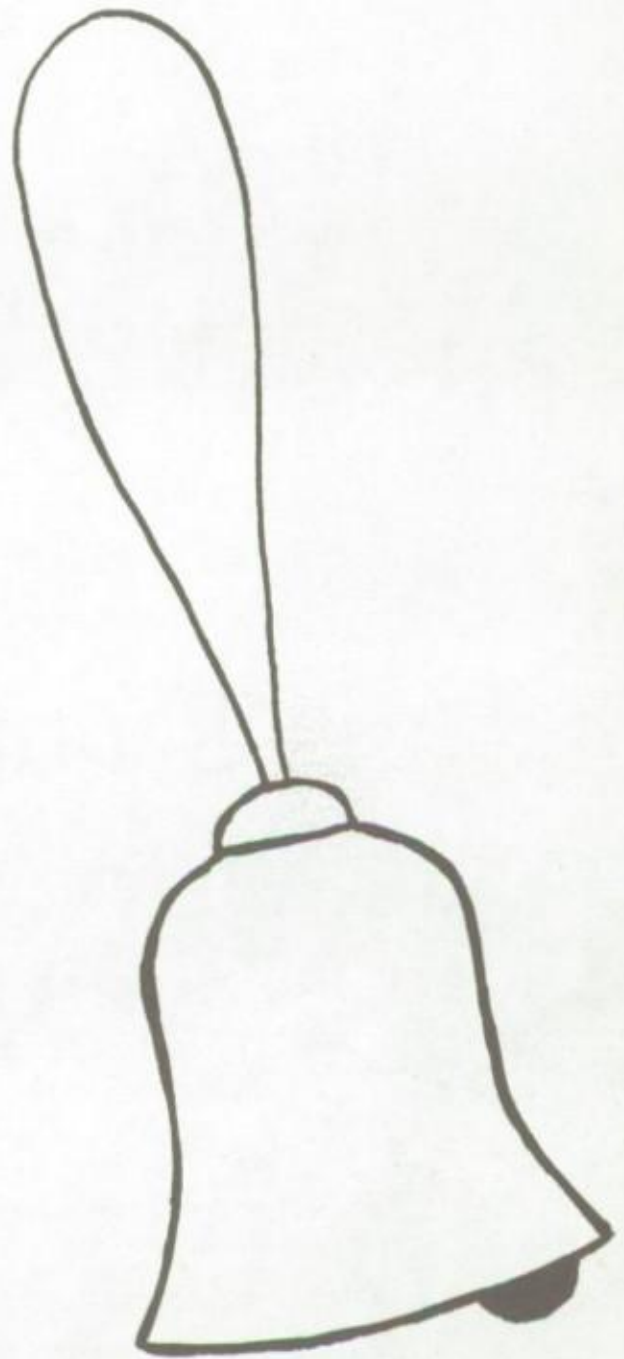

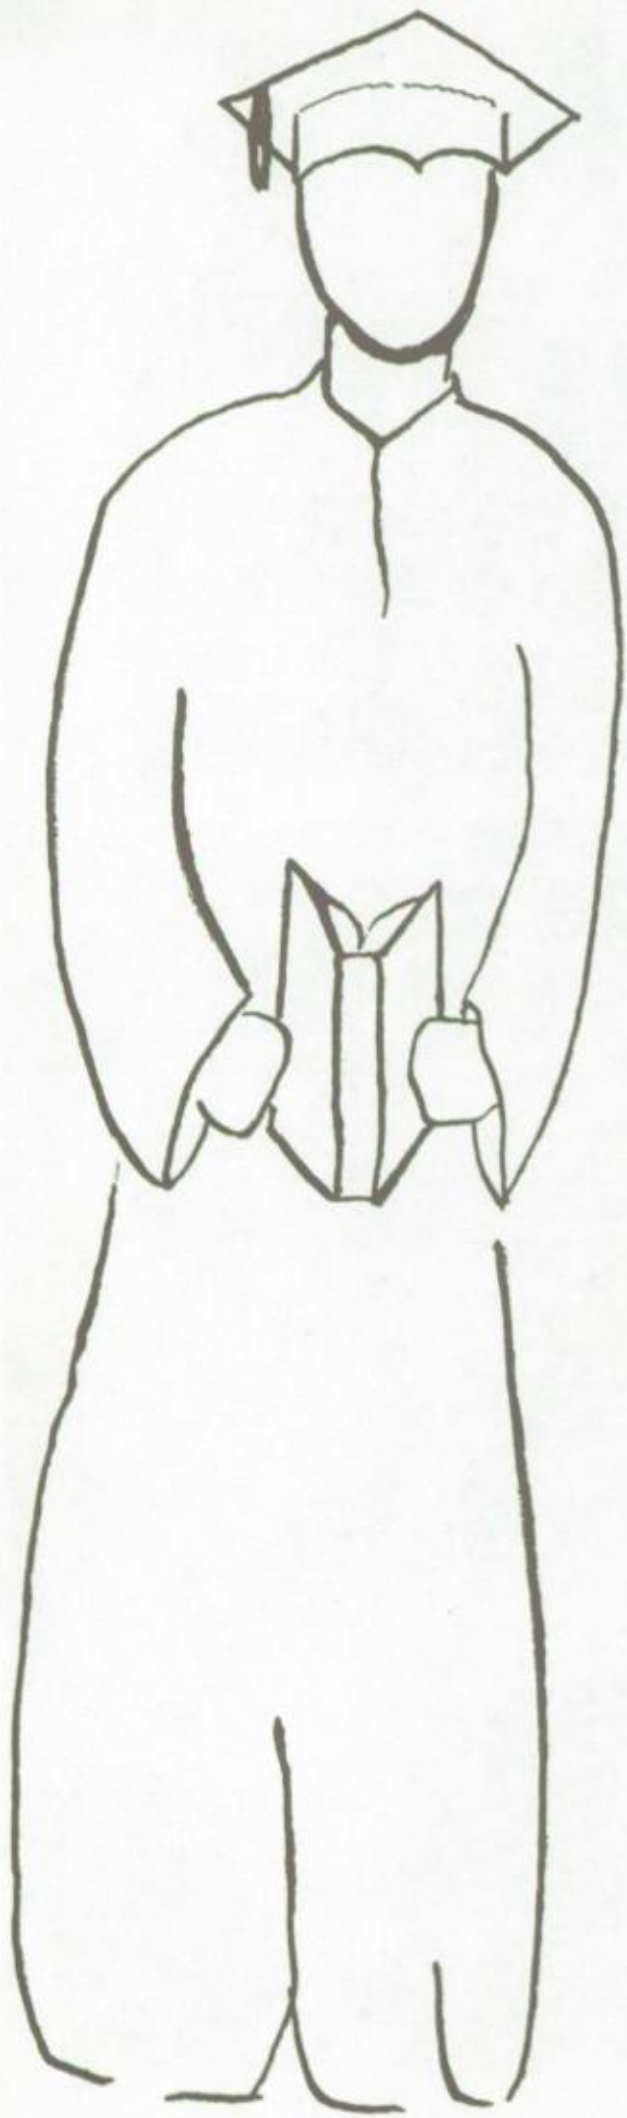

Dedication

Sometimes, when we least expect it, something can happen to shake our calm and serene world. A classmate of ours, David Brundage, did just that—shake our world. Of course, only someone we care a great deal about can do that.

This yearbook is dedicated to David Brundage, who would have graduated with the Class of 1968, but due to circumstances beyond our control, he is not here with us today.

All the words in the world cannot express what we feel, but we hope that the dedication of this yearbook will help.

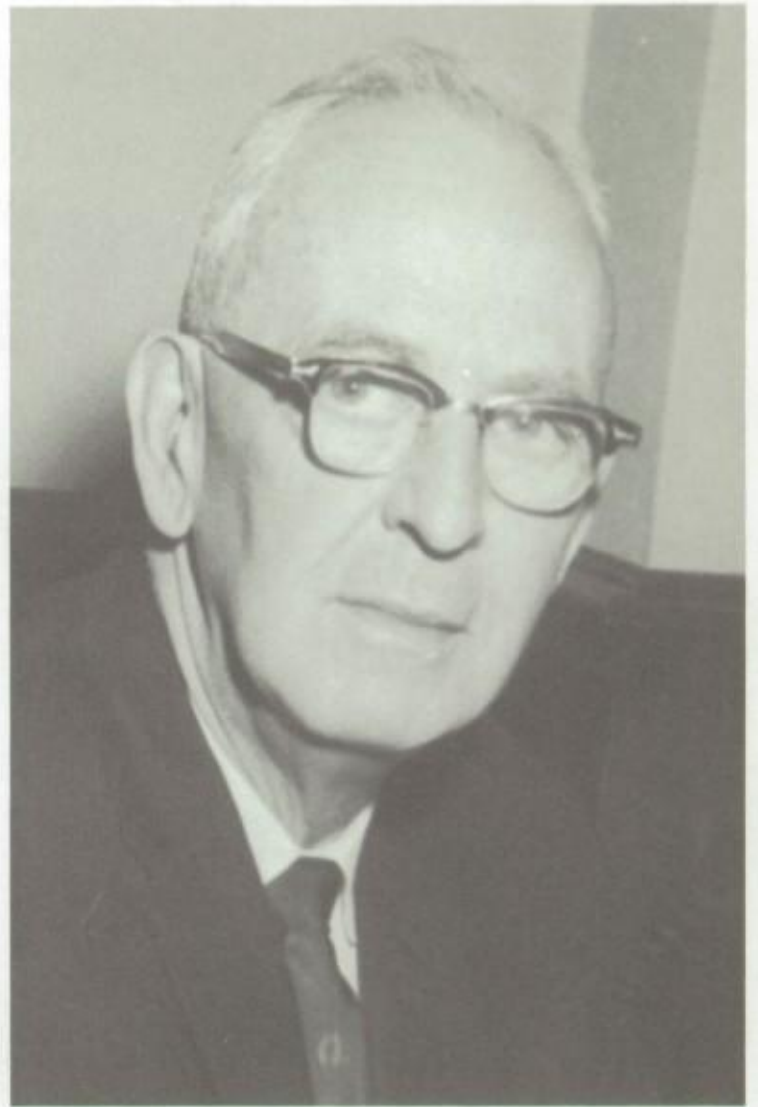

FACULTY

Mr. Kessler, Principal

Although his title is only "Principal",
he has most certainly been more to us
throughout the years, even if, perhaps,
we have not realized it at times.
